About WAS

Since 1978, WAS has been the pre-eminent global organization concerned with sexual health and rights. Our membership represents thousands of experienced as well as trainee sexologists from a variety of disciplines. With biennial congresses held in different regions of the world, WAS has facilitated sexual health through education, health promotion and networking for over three decades. In the recent years, WAS constituency has also become involved in advocating changes in public policy to recognize sexual health and rights as key ingredients in overall health and social justice. Financial support from individuals, foundations, corporations, and governments has sustained this work around the world.

WAS works to promote sexual health for all. Sexual health is a goal not only for the clinicians. It is the common goal of many disciplines. Sexuality education is meant to foster human development and facilitate sexually healthy lives for people at all stages of the life cycle. Interventions in clinical sexology have the goal of promoting, maintaining and restoring sexual health. Sex research is involved in the creation of evidence-based knowledge that supports others to attain and maintain sexual health.

Welcome Message

Dear friends and colleagues,

It is my great pleasure to welcome you to our 23rd biannual congress for the World Association for Sexual Health in Prague. Our congresses are each unique in the topics, themes and breadth of scope that they offer to sexologists and those working or interested in learning more about the field of sexual health. You may be presenting your work or planning to network with peers, colleagues and friends or just to sit back and enjoy the wonderful programme we have planned for you this year. I do hope that you enjoy our congress that has such wide appeal across a number of different specialities and is of global reach.

Our meeting is under the auspices of my friend of long standing, Professor Petr Weiss. Petr is a recent recipient of the prestigious EFS Gold Medal and I have found Petr and his team to be the perfect hosts for this congress. It is my desire that you will contribute here in Prague in whatever way that you can regardless of whether you are a long standing supporter of WAS or a brand newcomer. WAS welcomes everyone who supports our mission statement and on behalf of my advisory and executive committees we look forward to your participation in this most magnificent and historical city.

Venue: Tycho hall, Clarion Congress Hotel Prague
